Weariness and worn out night and day! Back aches; side aches, All on account of the kidneys. Must help them at their work. A Barre citizen shows you how—

W. W. McAuley, 187 Seminary street, Barre, Vt. says: "I took all kinds of medicine supposed to be good for kidney trouble, but did not find relief. The pain in my left kidney was severe, and I could not stop to pick up anything without having sharp twinges in the small of my back. I was very restless and had aches in the morning feeling tired and miserable. Damp weather always made me worse, and finally I became so bad that I could only walk a short distance. It was then that I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from E. A. Doan's drug store. They helped me from the first, relieving the backache and strengthening my kidneys. I used in all three boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills and can honestly say that I never took any other remedy that benefited me so greatly."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McIlburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

A short talk and a poem by Rev. F. E. Currier were much enjoyed, and remarks by a visiting comrade, Mr. Willey, and members of Morrill post, were both interesting and amusing. Commander E. D. Welch then, in a few well-chosen words, presented them tokens of appreciation, including a sum of money. Mr. Knapp responded in a very pleasant and appreciative manner. Mrs. Yaw, a sister, nearly 60 years of age, presided at the organ, while all joined in singing "America." ## COACHED AT A COURTING

By HARRY VAN AMBERG

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

It was an afternoon in August. I was sitting on the Poland's piazza overlooking the ocean. Mrs. Poland was lounging beside me in a wicker chair. She is a good friend of mine. Mrs. Poland, although her husband and I were chums before they were married. She has never been at all jealous of us—something unusual in such cases. She invites me to her cottage every summer and is good enough to say that she would not consider a party complete without me.

I tell her I'm never complete without a party.

Mrs. Poland has a hobby. It is matchmaking. She tried to match me several times and always failed. The reason, she said, was that I did not understand women.

"I have a girl for you," she said.

"I thought you had given me up."

"I have so far as your management is concerned. This time I wish you to leave your part of the affair to me."

"Now you're getting down to something practical. Who is the lady?"

"She comes tomorrow—Miss Annabel Vail. She is pretty, intelligent, stylish and has some means of her own, though not much."

"Very well. So long as you keep me instructed I'll do anything you like. But be it understood that I'm to have no headwork to do on my own account. You understand?"

"Perfectly."

Miss Vail arrived as expected. She was all Mrs. Poland had claimed for her. On the afternoon of her arrival Mrs. Poland informed me that she expected me to drive with her guest. The carriage would be at the door at 4 o'clock. I told her I would be charmed to drive with Miss Vail if she thought the young lady could endure me without other company. We drove two hours and returned in time to dress for dinner. During the evening Mrs. Poland asked me how I liked Miss Vail, and I told her I had been much pleased.

"I doubt it," she said. "A man who is much pleased with a woman can find plenty to say to her. Miss Vail has told me that you didn't say anything but 'Yes' and 'No'."

"I was always a good listener."

A sailing party was arranged for a day's outing on the water in Poland's yacht. Mrs. Poland instructed me before starting to devote myself almost exclusively to Miss Vail. My motto was "obey orders if you break owners." Miss Vail was very sensible, and I escorted her to the side of the vessel and held her hand. She motioned me away, but I clung to the job. Then, when she sank back into a reclining chair, considering that she was ill I concluded that I must do all the talking myself. I talked till she told me if I would only go away and let her alone she would feel much relieved.

Mrs. Poland that evening told me very impatiently that I didn't know how to make myself agreeable to a girl, but it was impossible for any one to teach me.

"Haven't I done all you have told me to do?" I asked, very much crestfallen.

"Goodness gracious, you expect your coach to follow you about to tell you when to talk and when to keep silent? Must you be worked like the figures in a Punch and Judy show?"

"From what you say Miss Vail has not been especially impressed with me."

"I wouldn't say so, except that it is all up with your suit, but she says you're the most aggravating man she ever met."

"Can't we wipe off the slate and begin all over?"

"You'd be the same!"

"Idiot!"

Mrs. Poland was silent. She was smiling me as she would scold one of her own children whom she dearly loved. There was nothing more to be said by either of us, so we dropped the subject.

Bridge was the game for the evening, and in order to show Mrs. Poland that I was willing to do all in my power to meet her wishes I invited Miss Vail to be my partner. She was very stupid at cards, and when she trumped my tricks, although I said nothing, I could not help looking grave. This she interpreted as condemnation and after finishing a rubber arose and left the table. Mrs. Poland was watching us and as soon as we were alone said to me:

"What did you scold her for?"

"Scold her! I didn't say a word."

"But you looked it."

"I was discouraged. I made no reply."

"You'll never win that girl in the world. You needn't try any more to please me. I give it up."

The next day Mrs. Poland was very cross with me. I asked her if I had offended further. She said that I had not, but Miss Vail was so offended with me that she was intending to cut short her visit.

"That's too bad," I replied. "Not for the world would I consent to remain

Silence!

The instinct of modesty natural to every woman is often a great hindrance to the cure of womanly diseases. Women shrink from the personal questions of the local physician which seem indecent. The thought of examination is abhorrent to them, and so they endure in silence a condition of disease which surely progresses from bad to worse.

It has been Dr. Pierce's privilege to cure a great many women who have found a refuge for modesty in his offer of $2.00 consultation fee by letter. All correspondence is held as sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription restores and regulates the womanly functions, abolishes pain and builds up and puts the finishing touch of health on every weak woman who gives it a fair trial.

your guest after having driven a guest of yours from your house. I beg of you tell Miss Vail that it is I who am going. Let her remain."

"Oh, tell her yourself. I'm tired of the business."

I invited Miss Vail to go down on the beach with me. We remained there all the morning. When we returned Mrs. Poland asked:

"Which is to go?"

"Neither," I replied. "We're engaged."

The Sleep of Seeds.

Onion, corn, fennel and some flower seeds were exposed during 118 days to a temperature of 40 degrees F. below zero. Afterward when placed in suitable surroundings nearly all of the fennel, onion and corn seeds and many of the others germinated. It is concluded that the protoplasm, or the principle of life, in a resting seed is in a state of inaction not comparable to that of a smoldering fire, but rather like that of a chemical mixture which is capable of forming a combination whenever the required conditions of temperature and illumination are present.
